requesting a quote of the cost to prepare and file a US patent application based on HP Invention Disclosure No. 10007649-1 (i.e., the present patent application).

Exhibit D (1 page) includes a Request for Quote and Engagement Letter Agreement for the preparation of a US patent application based on HP Docket No. 10007649-1 (i.e., the present patent application). The agreement was signed by patent attorney Roger Greer of Greer, Burns & Crain, Ltd. on October 27, 2000 and by HP Patent Attorney-Outsourcing Manager Steven R. Ormiston on October 30, 2000, dates prior to the earliest effective date of the Anderson Publication.

During the period between at least October 13, 2000 and January 24, 2001, the patent application for HP Invention Disclosure No. 10007649-1 (i.e., the present patent application) was prepared. The patent application prepared for HP Invention Disclosure No. 10007649-1 was one of several related patent applications prepared for the inventors during this period.

Exhibit E (1 page) includes a copy of an email dated January 24, 2001 from inventor Shell S. Description of Invention:	Please preserve all records of the invention and attach additional pages for the following. Each additional page should be signed and dated by the inventor(s) and witness(es).
A.	Description of the construction and operation of the invention (include appropriate schematic, block, & timing diagrams; drawings; samples; graphs; flowcharts; computer listings; test results; etc.) User chooses print from a web application (as opposed to choosing print from a web-browser desktop application). Application's web content populates user's "job store" with imaging information associated with web application and forwards user's browser to the user's printing URL (discovered using web-based imaging API's available to content). User then sees imaging information in the context of web page referenced by their printing URL. The URL could point to a printing device; it could point to a web-imaging portal (that provides links to locally available printers and service). The user would configure the print URL. This URL could be a static URL referencing a specific web page or a dynamically generated URL generated through some as-of-yet undiscovered protocol.
B.	Advantages of the invention over what has been done before. Web-application can control look and feel of output. Web-application can provide seamless integration into user's desired print environment (specific printer, web imaging home page, etc). "Printing" operation does not leave web domain. Since printing is accomplished entirely through the web it is easier to provide the same user experience and output for a variety of environments.
C.	Problems solved by the invention. Provides a powerful model for printing through the web. Rather than the traditional model of printing web pages using a web browser application which prints the web pages as formatted for the screen, this provides a model by which web sites have much greater control of printing. Web sites can provide imaging information crafted for printing representing their content. Further, they can do this in a way that provides a seamless user experience since printing is accomplished by interacting with imaging services using web-based imaging that provide a preview in the context of the service.
D.	Prior solutions and their disadvantages (if available, attach copies of product literature, technical articles, patents, etc.). Today, most printing of web sites is accomplished by printing from a web browser application. Oftentimes, printing from web browser applications results in bad looking output. Furthermore, printing from web browser applications is inconsistent—it varies from browser application to browser application. To combat this, some web sites provide PDF files, which can be previewed using a special browser plug-in (e.g. Acrobat). The preview shows what the printed output will look like. The plug-in also provides consistency between web-browser applications. Unfortunately, although the plug-in provides a general preview of the job, it does not provide a preview of the job in the context of devices and services as provided for with web-based imaging. Printing is still accomplished in an OS dependent fashion.

RE: Preparation and filing of a Patent Application for the attached Invention Disclosure(s)

Pursuant to Outside Counsel Procedures Dated October 15, 1999

FILE DIRECTLY TO THE USPTO by: Jan. 10, 2001

Dear Roger:

We would like you to provide us with a quote of the cost for your firm to prepare and file (direct with the USPTO) a US patent application based on the HP invention disclosure(s) identified above, a copy of which is enclosed. Your quote should be based on preparing and filing the application exactly as specified on the attached green checklist.

You must use HP's USPTO forms and only reference HP's "complets" packet number on all filing documents and correspondence with the USPTO. All filing fees should be charged to HP's deposit account noted on the HP forms. Please do not prepare or file an assignment, HP will do that. Any questions regarding HP's forms and the Jelform software for use with HP's forms should be directed to Jennifer Torres at (858) 655-8008.

Your quote should be submitted on the enclosed Request for Quote And Engagement Letter Agreement. If your quote is accepted, we will return a fully executed copy of the Agreement to you for your records. The Agreement will not be binding on you or on HP until signed by HP's authorized representative. If the Agreement is not signed and returned to HP, any bills submitted by you cannot be paid.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter. If your review indicates a possible conflict for your firm, you should advise us within one week of receipt of this letter.

Sincerely,

Steven R. Ormiston

Dear Mr. McDaniel:

As per your request, enclosed please find eight patent applications along with the formal drawings and Invention Disclosure Statements for Shell Simpson's inventions. We also just determined that the application for Docket Number 10007657-1 (our file 3427.64911) had an incorrect title and we therefore enclose a corrected version of the application as well as new formal papers for this case. It will be necessary for Shell Simpson and Ward Foster to re-execute these formal papers.

Very truly yours,

GREER, BURNS & CRAIN, LTD.
